Standardized tests are tests in which the same test is given in the same manner in all schools, and scores are based on the average performance of children taking the test, usually called the "norm." This means a student's scores can be compared to those of classmates and those of children in the same grade in other schools. The test helps tell what the child can do and is doing in relation to others in the same grade. There are two major kinds of tests: criterion-referenced and normreferenced. The most familiar called a criterion-referenced test in which standards are set in advance to measure performance. The other test

Fast action by the department plus the automatic sprinkler system are credited with averting a disaster. The fire damage was limited to several boxes of clothing in the immediate area. Elba firemen were assisted by the Ino Volunteer fire department. Fire Chief Lloyd Driggers said the cause of the fire was undetermined and the state fire marshall was called in the investigate the blaze. The only information immedately available was an employee who said she heard a "pop" and looked up from her sewing machine to see flames shooting six feet into > Kleinert's employees wrapped up area laundromats later in the day drying out bundles of clothing wet by the prinkler system and/or fire hoses. Above Ino firefighters are seen assisting removal of scorched clothing from the building.

ELBA BAND DAY The Elba High School Band has scheduled Band Day 1995 for April 8th. The event will be held at the high school from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

BAND DAY BEAUTY PAGEANT The date for the selection of this year's Band Day Beauties is Friday, April 8, 1995. Girls from the Elba City Schools in grades K thru 12 are being given the opportunity to vie for the title of Little Miss, Mini Miss, Jr. Miss, and Miss Band Day '95. Winners will be featured in the school's yearbook, EHS Homecoming and Elba's Annual Christmas parades. The Miss division contestants are being asked to wear evening gowns and all other divisions are wearing Sunday dresses. ning gowns and all other divisions are wearing Sunday dresses. Entry forms are now available in the offices of Elba Elementary and Elba High Schools. For more information, contact Starla Amison at 897-2001.

COWBOY TED ROBERTS, president of SouthTrust Bank, is shown riding into town on a horse last Thursday morning to promote the bank's new checking accounts. The advertisements introducing the new product, and Roberts, promise a "smooth ride" for customers. The western motif introduced by Roberts is carried out inside the bank with western type displays and staff members in their western attire.

Computers continue to force their way into every facet of our daily lives. The buzz words today in all the trade magazines include cyberspace and internet, which ain't the answer to all our problems, in spite of the sales pitch. There are just as many, maybe more, nuts there as one can see on Any Street, U.S.A. Apparently there are those who get a thrill from posting shocking messages or outright lies on the various bulletin boards found on the internet.

The term virtual reality is another computer buzz word and/or the new Boswell, Melinda Tyson, Aretha technology that is being tooted as "the way to go." Frankly, we don't need Wright, Gwendolyn A. Rayborn, to spend those thousands of dollars to pump up our imagination. The same Shelia Parrish, Wallace E. Hardy, can be gotten from a good book. Even as a child, we had virtual reality Benzael Williams, W. K. Cotter, Authat would put today's computers in the shade. Those Zane Gray westerns bie Cauley, Mary Agnes Mack, Donand other horse books had enough descriptive words to parch our throats, ald Cotter, David McKenzie, Coadie plus those great Jack London stories such as "Cail of the Wild", More than Nelson, Dretta Graham, Toria Liponce carrying a book to bed got us into trouble, but the number of horses trot, Cola Carnley, and Jessie Carr, we corralled and tamed while buried in one of those books can't be counted ... not even with the most powerful computer. Mostly, the answer is that everything appears to be running smooth- rone McNeil, Annice Griswold, Henly. Maybe part of the reason is revealed in the memo from city hall we saw this week: This one was on a city letterhead, addressed to Jeff Puckett and Kiana Thomas. (electric super) Henry Clark (city clerk) and Billy Meek (street super). It dealt with limbs the electric department reportedly cut from around some power lines, like maybe last November. The message was, "I WANT the damn limbs moved Monday if it takes every damn body that works for the city. There was no signature, just the initials RH:tm. The memo offended a number of people but ... we checked Monday afternoon and the aforementioned limbs were gone. Here is another chance for Elba citizens to choose sides over a city hall issue.

We have enjoyed seeing our friends at SouthTrust Bank dressed in their western outfits to promote the latest product of the bank. A bunch of people went to a lot of effort to get up all the props and costumes. If you missed it last week or Wednesday of this week, they will all have it on again Friday. You can see the props any day, just walk in and look around , tell them we sent you.

It was good to see the folks from Kinston, Zion Chapel, New Brockton and Coffee Springs use the tried-and-true Miller Memorial football stadium for their jamboree last week. Confession. I felt a little awkward bringing up the subject of the flood last week. That same feeling intensifies as I begin today's thought, but I last week. That same feeling intensifies as I begin today's thought, but I simply must share one more story and ask your forbearance in the process.

Last Friday morning was the day. Maybe that should be "THE DAY". A group of men gathered for their customers and the should be "THE DAY". A mond family, Mrs. Ina Jones, Mrs. An African American in the Arts: We group of men gathered for their customary coffee chat at Whitman's Drugs as usual. I, though once a card-carrying member of this group, have not been a "regular" of late, but dropped by for a few moments. The conversation was predictable, but delightful. As each shuffled off to their respective tasks, I was left seated with a local businessman at a table.

How the conversation got started is vague. The content is now not all The Singing Echoes of New the way for models of color when clear. The subject, as vivid as this morning's headline...you guessed it. For Brockton, AL will celebrate their 7th she founded the Grace Del Marco nearly an hour we sat and shared heart to heart about our particular experiences. We shared our high moments and our low ones. The surprise, the anxiety, the feelings of helplessness and hopelessness. Who was where and when. What was salvaged and what wasn't. You know the conversation.

We've had it a thousand times with different people.

After a while we realized that we must go our way and got about the Al.

cant as those of the 1990 flood, the effect is dramatic.

Hear me carefully. Touting our faith is not my intent. However, touting the ability of a loving God to give a fellowship among His people like no other is appropriate. What so often prevents us from sharing fully in that fellowship is our reservations about letting down our guard and sharing our true thoughts and feelings.

true thoughts and feelings.

Last Friday, for whatever reasons, fellow strugglers shared from the heart. In doing so, old wounds experienced new healing and two friends grew a little closer. Maybe that's what Paul meant when he instructed the Galatians, "Bear one another's burdens, and thus fulfill the law of Christ."

May God find us reaching out to others as we share the joys and the burdens of life!

I went to school for an hour last Friday morning to visit Melanie's kin
1995 baseball season with a bang ray Smedley. lergarten class and was one of many parents in the classroom to witness irst-hand just what kindergarten is really all about. All the visitors enjoyed hearing their children count by two's and three's, sing along with iey in a celebration of St. Patrick's Day, and we all took pride in looking over some coloring sheets and some tests. It got a little tricky for the parents; however, when a sheet was passed out that had boxes on it, and the students were supposed to put the right number of balls in each box. Everyone ended up with the right number of balls in all the boxes, but not before the parents shared their glances and had their children erase at least a box or two. Hey, it's been a long time since any of us were in kin-

ELBA TIGERS ROMP TO OPENING GAME WIN

When the Elba Tigers released their 1995 baseball schedule and it revealed the Tigers would open their season against 5A Greenville, many felt like it wouldn't be an ideal opener for the 3A Tigers. Wrong! It was just what the doctor ordered, as Elba romped to an easy 11-0 win over the 5A visitors and gave the large crowd on hand plenty to cheer about. Elba got off to a fast start when Leray Smedley hit the first pitch he saw over he center-fielder's head for a triple, and then trotted home when Che Vaughan followed with a one-out homer over the 350 sign in center-field. Before the first inning was over the Tigers were ahead 6-0, and from then on it was just a matter of how bad the final score would be, as Elba empied the bench and rolled to the 11-0 win.

Flba pounded out 12 hits in the win, but the star of the afternoon had to se senior center-fielder Che Vaughan, who hit three home-runs in three at-bats and knocked in five runs. Vaughan became famous last season for some of his mammoth home-runs, and started the season red-hot with the huge day. One good day doesn't make a season; however, if Vaughan will try to improve each and every game, he could have a bright future in base-

Elba's win was a great way to start the season, but the players have to be warned that Greenville was winless when they came to town and will be far from the best team the Tigers face this season. Elba looked impressive in all areas of the game and deserve credit for the win over a larger school. It was just one win; however, and there are a lot of games left on the schedule against some mighty good teams. The players and fans shouldn't get too excited about one win, and should also stay focused when that first loss occurs. It's a long road!

SPRING FOOTBALL JAMBOREE WAS HUGE SUCCESS

A spring football jamboree was held at Miller Memorial Stadium last Friday night involving Zion Chapel, New Brockton, Kinston and Coffee Springs, and even though the scoreboard showed a different opinion, the jamboree was a huge success for all four schools. Over 1,500 fans attended the jamboree, and when that number was added to four varsity football teams, four junior varsity football teams, four bands and four sets of cheerleaders, the old stadium was definitely rocking. The format of the jamboree was a little confusing with two teams platooning on each side of the field, but the format kept everyone busy and in the game, and let a lot of players take part. Over 100 total players got a chance to get in on the action during the two games, and that makes it a *ZION CHAPEL had an aggressive defense and a lot of talent on both ides of the football. The Rebels appear loaded at running back with two top-notch tailbacks, and if the line matures, the offense could be ex- ment will feature two divisions, plosive, to say the least. The defense got my attention with its style of Class 1A-3A and Class 4A-6A, and play, and all in all, it looks like the Rebels will be a team to keep an eye *NEW BROCKTON showed plenty of talented players on both sides of the ball and it was clear to see why the Gamecocks are expecting big things next season. The Gamecocks have one of the area's top quarterbacks, some good backs, and an aggressive defense. Don't let the losses in the jamboree fool'ya, Brockton is back. *KINSTON was a pleasant surprise in the game and showed that it can compete with any team around. The Bulldogs did a good job running the option on offense and unveiled some speedy backs, while over on defense the Bulldogs were physical and had some big plays that put points on the scoreboard. Kinston is solid and should be headed for a big year. *COFFEE SPRINGS put the news the high school would be closed out of its minds and was an impressive team in the jamboree. The Golden Bears have some of the best looking running backs around, have some big hitters on defense, and play an aggressive style of ball on every single play. If they answer the bell next season, watch out.

NCAA TOURNAMENT NEEDS TO BE RE-STRUCTURED

I haven't had a chance to watch much of the NCAA tournament during the opening two rounds, but did see enough to know that the NCAA needs to go back to the drawing board and re-structure its post-season party if the "Big Dance" is to remain as popular as it now is. Some people may get excited when teams are zillion-to-one underdogs to win the tourney and get the chance to pull off the ultimate upset; however, after teams like North Carolina A & T, Drexel, St. Peters's, Ball State, Mount St. Mary's, Nichols State, Colgate, Tennessee-Chattanooga, Gonzaga, Florida International and Santa Clara were all bounced hard in first-round action, it's past time for a change.

How about using the same plan that is used in football, and organize a Division 1-AA tournament for the first round blowout victims to compete in? The division is a huge success in football and would give the teams at the smaller "big name" schools a chance to get some of the post-season money, without the embarrassment. Who knows? Maybe the NIT would then adopt the tourney, since many of the better NIT schools would then make the NCAA field, as they should make the NCAA field, as they should. The NCAA sold its soul to television years ago for a fat paycheck, but could make at least as much, if not more, by dividing up the Division 1 schools into the two divisions used in other sports.

HONORS CONTINUE TO MOUNT FOR ELBA'S MCKINNON

The honors continued to mount last week for Elba's Ronald McKinnon when he was named the state's top small college athlete by the Alabama Sports Writers Association. The award, to be presented at the ASWA banquet in June, went to Jay Barker in the big school division, and McKinnon was a lopsided winner in the small college class. Athletes from all sports were nominated for the award, but only two were chosen, and McKinnon was one of the honorees.

Ronald McKinnon has led the University of North Alabama to back-to-back national titles in football, has been named an All-American twice, and now has been named the state's top small school athlete, even though he is only a junior and will return next season. What can he do for an encore? With Ronald, anything is possible!

LEAVE THE RULEBOOK ALONE AND JUST PLAY BALL

The people who write the rulebook for high school athletics have always seemed to come up with some of the dumbest rules imaginable, but it now seems that they are even making up rules just to keep the umpires happy. This year in high school baseball, a batter that steps out of the batter's box after a called strike is assessed with another strike. That means that if a batter has a 3-1 count and steps out of the box after a called strike he is given strike 3 and is out. The new rule was put in to speed up the game and keep the batter in the box, and may help in some rare occasions. However, it has absolutely nothing to do with the game of baseball and was put in for the umpires. The players are the ones that play the game and they are the ones the rules should protect. If the umps don't want the games to last so long, let'em stay home and watch on TV!

County residents opposed to new subdivision

by Marvin McILwain

A preliminary platt for the new subdivision was submitted to the subdivision was submitted to the commission by the developer, Porter Lunsford, who also owns the land. The platt was approved by the commissioners on Feb. 13, 1995.

According to Tompkins, there are 138 residents living in the area located near Harrand Creek just outside the Enterprise city limits, who feel to the subdivision on the wet lands in the struction on the wet lands in the wet lands in the subdivision was submitted to the area; and 5) the effect on the sewage system (City of Enterprise) with the commissioner Brooks recognized Palo and allowed him to speak.

The group has also presented their woes to the Enterprise City Council, but they were told since the proper permits before beginning the general business session, Commissioner Brooks recognized Palo and allowed him to speak.

Palo told commissioners that he, on behalf of the group, would like to ask three things of the commission: 1) ensure that the developer has ALL the proper permits before beginning the general business session, Commissioner Brooks recognized Palo and allowed him to speak.

Several citizens of the county attended Monday's meeting of the Coffee County Commission to express their concerns about a proposed subdivision.

Ms. Donna Tompkins, spokesperson for several residents of the Alpha Heights Subdivision, addressed the commission posing several questions concerning the development of Sandy Oaks Estate.

A preliminary platt for the new subdivision was submitted to the contraction on the 24 lots.

She, along with others, expressed the following concerns: 1) whether or not the construction (grading and lot preparation) could cause more flooding to their property located along Harrand Creek; 2) increased traffic through their normally quite neighborhood; 3) the possibility of their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes currently built in the area range from $80,000 their property value being lowered by the construction (homes of English and the ford had met all the requirements set forth by the commission to build on his own property.
